PARAWAGAT VALLEY. We have been shown a letter written from Parawagat Valley, December 23d, by a resident of this city, from which we have been permitted to make extracts. The writer says: "It has been storming every since I went to the mines, and I have not had a very good chance to prospect. I visited some of the principal claims, and I must say that I think them much finer than I expected. From what I have seen of the country, I consider it one of the best I have seen for prospecting. It is the very country that the Austin people have tried so long to find. The valley is the finest I have seen on the east side of the Sierra Nevada, and it is about 110 miles from the Colorado river. I have located 2,700 feet on the best coal bed you ever saw, which must prove very valuable. Timber is not very large or abundant near the mines, but I understand there is large timber some twenty or thirty miles from the mines. Water is also scarce, but is plentiful in the mines only ten miles distant. Tea, sugar and coffee are very high, and we have no tools to work with. I am in the right place at last."—Reese River Reveille.

Mining and Petroleum Stocks.

New York, Jan. 12.

In Mining Stocks very large transactions have taken place, particularly in Gunnell Gold, which has advanced to $1.20@$1.25, and in Smith & Parmelee Gold at $5.50@$6.

Petroleum Stocks, considering the heavy fluctuations in Gold and Railroad Stocks, have held their own far better than any other stocks on the market. In fact, while the business in general stocks has been steadily declining, the transactions in Petroleum and Mining Stocks during the past few weeks have been daily on the increase, and at no time previously has the business been so large.—U. S. Mining Journal.

In noticing the demand of the Colorado Legislature upon its newly elected United States Senators that they should endeavor "to amend the present Pacific Railroad charter so that the main trunk may be built on the line of St. Louis, Topeka, Fort Riley, and by the Smoky Hill route to Denver, and through the Berthoud Pass to Salt Lake and San Francisco, with all the assistance for its speedy construction now granted by the said charter," the Philadelphia Press says: "If this change can be effected, a railroad will be finished to Colorado in two or three years, and extended westward to the Pacific in a very brief period."

The Daily Telegraph.

TUESDAY MORNING FEB. [illegible], 1866.

Last Counsel.

We have information from good authority, that the Mormon Hierarch recently announced in grand council his unalterable determination to stand or fall by polygamy. It was ordered that all Church officials should forthwith be instructed to promulgate this fact and urge by every means the entrance into plurality at once of all persons who desire to hold good standing in the Church. Immediate compliance was to be required, and those who failed or refused were to be informed that the Church disowned them—all must become polygamists or be no longer recognized as among the faithful—they must do this for sake of Brigham or they were not with him.

Now, why is it thus necessary to enforce this abhorred practice upon the people. If it be one so dear to them as its advocates falsely represent? The fact is that the people do not endorse polygamy—they are not enamored of its seductions, but shrink from it with an instinctive loathing and an evident unwillingness to take the fatal step to which they are urged with all the persuasion—all the influence—nay, all the subtle force that the powers of Church despotism can wield to lead or push the reluctant victims forward into deeper depths than any they have yet sounded. The policy is taken up, as in duty bound, by lesser officials and urged upon the mass by men of brutal minds in every ward by teachers in every family. Men and women are not even allowed to consult their own inclinations in a matter of such importance as an act involving open disobedience to the law, but this very disobedience is made the crowning act of faith by those who have or assume to have the consciences of the people in their keeping. Is it possible for disloyalty to go further without absolutely taking up arms in defense of treason?

Methinks in all this the leaders and they alone are assuming a terrible responsibility, not only to retributive justice for outraged morality, but directly to a most righteous law thus maliciously violated.

Now, we wish to utter words of friendly warning to the people, and we call upon them, as American citizens, to beware how they trample upon the paternal tolerance of a most lenient Government. We do assure them, in all earnestness, that no man can presume to stand between them and the penalties they will incur by yielding obedience to the evil mandates of one whose object is to hide his own infamy in the midst of multitudes, utterly reckless what misery he brings upon humanity so he escapes retribution. We do not speak idly when asserting our well founded belief, that instead of leading others deeper into disobedience and immorality, the false prophet had better look well to the ground on which he himself is standing, for, whatever he may flatter himself withal, we can assure him that it is very treacherous. A mine may open underneath his feet, the existence of which he little suspects, and a curtain be uplifted from the past—that awful past, over which he possibly dreams have rolled the dark waters of oblivion. We wait for the raising of the curtain.

Officers' Relief Bill.

We referred a few days ago to Senate Bill No. 32, introduced in the California Legislature, providing for the payment of a monthly compensation to officers of California Volunteers, deemed sufficient to cover their pecuniary loss by reasons of the depreciation of Legal Tenders. Since that time, the officers and ex-officers of the California Volunteers, now in Utah, have held a meeting and addressed a memorial to the Senate favoring the passage of the bill, and presenting a few plain facts and reasons in support of the measure. Nevada, promptly recognized the pecuniary position in which her volunteer officers were placed, by reason of receiving their pay in Legal Tenders, and gave them a beauty bill, liberal, but only just, in its character. Surely California, rich in her exhaustless resources, and forcing a gold basis upon the Pacific coast, can afford to be just with her volunteer officers in this respect. While we hold as a fact beyond dispute, that no Californian entered the army in 1861 for the pecuniary consideration, we claim for them a fair compensation for their services. They have fully earned it, and they are entitled to it.

Other States have given their officers and soldiers millions in the shape of bounties—California is now only asked to give a few thousand dollars—barely sufficient to protect her officers from the loss they have incurred by reasons of the depreciation of the national currency. Will she do it? Will the loyal men of her present Legislature give to these officers a practical evidence of the regard of the State for their services, or will they contract themselves with the recklessness of State conventions, which cost nothing and do not furnish any material aid? Let the bill pass. The State will lose nothing by the passage of [illegible]

Territory.

Freighting is re-commencing from the Missouri across the plains. The Atchison Champion of the 21st, says, Maj. Duane loaded a mule train of ten wagons yesterday for Denver and Central City, with 18,000 pounds of pork and 32,000 pounds of assorted merchandise.—Stampeding from California to Montana is taking place. The Stockton Independent says the "[illegible] throughout the State are "getting ready to migrate to Montana and surrounding." A correspondent says that General Logan would like the Montana Senatorship because he wanted Trumbull's place in the Senate. Logan did good service during the war, but he is not so learned or deep a man as Senator Trumbull.—Sixty-five deaths in San Francisco during the week ending January 20th.—The New York Seventh Regiment announce a grand ball to cost $70,000. The tickets are sold at $20 each, and Delmonico charges $50,000 for the supper! This prodigality of expense shows the dangerous inflation of present flush times in the East. The occasion of the ball is the reception of members of the Regiment who have served as officers during the war.—The Executive of the United States has not yet issued a pardon to any West Pointer who went over to the rebels to fight against the Government at whose expense he was educated, and whose flag he swore to maintain and defend.

COLORADO ITEMS.—By our exchanges from Denver and the mountain cities, mining and matters generally are in statu quo this winter, but big results and cheering changes are expected to be realized through the Lyon Process, in the spring and summer.

The First National Bank of Denver City, according to the sworn statement of the Cashier, made $26,722.37 profits, for the first nine months of its existence, ending January 1st, 1866.

By their newspapers it seems the Colorado folks are fast multiplying, marriage and birth announcements being occurrences of every day. Among the deaths at Denver, recently, was that of Eli M. Cody, formerly a heavy merchant of Weston, Missouri, and Leavenworth, Kansas. The Elbert-Cummings imbroglio, about that "Seal," is still unsettled.

Petroleum is a perfect success near the foot of Pike's Peak, Cañon City. Mr. Cassady, manager of those oil wells and refinery, arrived in Denver recently, with 700 gallons of Pike's Peak Petroleum, prepared for use. His wells yield from 25 to 30 barrels daily.

Utah Polygamy is evidently in bad odor, even in Colorado. The editor of the Black Hawk Journal refers to the unclean thing, as follows:

The Salt Lake Telegraph spares enough time from its defense of Polygamy to indite a heavy leader on Secretary Elbert's attempts to "subvert the Territorial Government," and on the colored petition against the admission of Colorado. What would editors do without a deal of humbug on which to exercise their "wits?" We don't blame the Telegraph—Polygamy must be a disgusting and tedious subject to write upon, to a man of fine feelings (!).

THE First Regiment of Cavalry, commanded by Col. A. G. Brackett, and numbering 627 men, arrived on the steamship Sacramento last evening. The regiment was formerly on this coast when it was commanded by Colonel Beall, and was sent East in 1861, at the breaking out of the rebellion. The regiment has been engaged in active service during the entire war, and is latterly from New Orleans, where it was sent with Sheridan's Texan army. It is the oldest cavalry regiment in the United States service, and many of its former officers have distinguished themselves in aiding to put down the rebellion. One of the Majors was formerly a Lieutenant in this regiment, but resigned and went over to the rebels because his claims to the rank of Brigadier General were not recognized by the United States Senate. The troops marched through the city this morning headed by their band. Their steady marching, soldierly air and war-worn appearance was generally remarked by the spectators along the line of march. The regiment is now snugly quartered at the Presidio.—S. F. Bulletin.

Generals Stephen and Phil. Kearney, Andrew J. Smith, Sumner, Connor, and Carleton, belonged to this regiment when it was known as the "First Dragoons." It is a gallant old regiment, and, in those days, (1840,) was the pride of the service.

FORT RUSH VALLEY.—From a private letter, by a gentleman of the 2d Cavalry, stationed at Stockton, Rush Valley, Utah, we clip a couple of paragraphs, to show that the boys are buoyant with "the situation," as the southern correspondents used to say:

Within the last few days a thaw has taken place in the vicinity of Rush, that is most cheering to the worn boned veterans of the 2nd Cavalry. The leaden aspect of the sky is replaced by an ethereal blue, that overreaches the snow capped hills, like the blessings of a too-generous Government extended to a pack of seditious Mormons. Rush Valley is blest with health and cheerfulness, notwithstanding the many sacrifices Uncle Samuel's heroes are forced to make sojourning in "the land of Saints." The men are snugly stowed away in winter quarters; the animals are recuperating gloriously after the [illegible] hardships they endured last Summer and fall; and, should hostilities be called into requisition, the following message may [illegible] that stands in their way.

CAR[illegible] a capit[illegible] rors in [illegible] newsp[illegible] careless [illegible] later d[illegible] letter from New York to the Sacramento Union, wherein the writer touches up type-setters with no more severity than he does the manuscript writers themselves:

Speaking of Longfellow, I am reminded of some very ludicrous typographical errors. There is a gentleman in this city who is enthusiastic in the matter of the South and educating its people up to the standard of New England intelligence. When, some months ago, the Cabin [illegible] Louisville (Ky.), as the organ of radical New England politics, the gentleman volunteered to write letters for it. He receives books from publishers and notices them in his letters. A week or two ago, in one of his letters, he spoke of the "Life and Letters of Rev. F. W. Robertson," Longfellow's "Wayside Inn," and the "Freedman's Book." Imagine his disgust, on receiving the paper, and reading in the letter that Longfellow's "Wayside Fish" was one of the handsomest illustrated books of the season; that Robertson was already well known in American by his "original and eloquent sermons," (sermons), and that a little volume of Mrs. Child, called "The Tradesman's Book," deserves special mention, being designed for the class whose name it bears, to instruct and elevate them, teach them to be good citizens and good members of society. The "tradesmen" who read that letter must have felt complimented and grateful.

PUB. DOCS.—Thanks to Hon. J. M. Ashley, M. C. from Ohio, for these favors including a pamphlet copy of "National Thanksgiving Services, held on Thursday, Dec. 7, 1865, in the Hall of the House of Representatives of the United States; containing a Discourse, by the Rev. C. B. Boynton, D. D., Chaplain of the House, and historic references to Thanksgiving occasions in former eras of our Republic." This document, entire, is very interesting; and the Discourse decidedly eloquent and appropriate to the occasion—the first Thanksgiving service ever held in the Halls of Congress. From the pamphlet we clip the following:

At the conclusion of the services, Hon. James M. Ashley, Member of Congress from Ohio, who, as leader, had so successfully carried through the House of Representatives on the 31st of January, 1865, the Constitutional amendment abolishing slavery forever in every part of the United States (which amendment has been ratified already by twenty-seven States, and so becomes an organic law,) rose and moved that Dr. Boynton be requested to furnish a copy of his discourse for publication, which was unanimously carried.

MRS MAX'S LEGACY.—The Archduchess Charlotte, wife of the usurper of Mexico, is said to inherit about five million dollars as her share in the estate left by her father, the late King Leopold of Belgium. One of the reasons for her and her husband becoming the agents of the French Emperor in Mexico was their pecuniary embarrassments; and now that these are relieved, Maximilian has no good reason for delaying his return to his beautiful chateau of Miramar, near Trieste. King Leopold's estates are chiefly situated in the Austrian Empire, and as the immediate realization of their value in money would no doubt be attended with pecuniary sacrifice, Maximilian would actually advance his interests by returning, like Cincinnatus, to agricultural occupation. Besides, the grandeur of such an abnegation of power would to much to redeem his reputation from the stain of past errors. Money has no doubt a peculiar fascination for Quixotic souls, like those of Maximilian and Charlotte, but power is also attractive; and as their means of living is now tolerably secure, we presume they will continue to maintain, for a little while longer, their burlesque of an imperial court in the halls of the Montezumas.

LITERARY MATTERS.—The young literateurs of New York are meeting with great success in their literary ventures. Richardson's book of "Field, Dungeon and Escape," has netted him a moderate fortune; Julius Henri Browne's volume on "A Correspondent's Life in Prison," has also sold very successfully, though its publishers have failed to bring it into notice with the prominence it merits. Mr. N. D. Urner, of the Tribune, has become correspondent of one of the leading Richmond dailies, and is to furnish it with a regular series of New York letters.

Artemus Ward, Josh Billings, Petroleum Nasby, and, indeed, all the Hoosier and Yankee humorists, are reaping rich rewards for their labors from the public. Poor John Phœnix, the cutest and deepest of them all, (may he rest in peace!) suffers in present fame for want of an enterprising publisher.

ADMISSION OF COLORADO.—President Johnson yesterday submitted a message to Congress stating the last proceedings in Colorado for the formation of a State government, having differed in time and mode from those specified in the act of Congress of March 21st, 1864, he has declined to issue the proclamation for which provision is made in the law, and he therefore submits the question for the consideration and further act of Congress.—Washington Star, Jan. 18th.

Unanimity has been proposed in Congress to dissolve the Territory of Utah, and attach its parts to the adjacent States and territories. We think it better for Government to enforce its laws in Utah as she is now organized. We think this consummation, combined with the abilities of a great nation.—Omaha Republican, Jan. 19th.

STEEP.—The first-class hotels in New York charge $6 per day for board.

REPORT of the Masonic Organization, and exercises, in our next.

"THE rich," said a Tentonic chap "eat venison because it is dear; I eat mutton because it is sheep."

The ice is running freely in the river at St. Louis, but not sufficiently to prevent the movement of steamers.

LOUIS HARDEN and James Ramsey, of Bond county, Ill., were drowned in the Mississippi, opposite St. Louis, on the 16th ult.

John C. Heenan, the pugilist, arrived in Boston, from Europe, Dec. 25th. It is reported that he is about to take a porter-house in New York.

ROBERTS, the billiard champion of England, is on his way to this country, and it is thought that a match will be arranged between him and Joseph Dion of Canada.

COL. KAHN, of Bodenburg & Kahn, got back from Bannack and Virginia, Sunday night last. He is looking fine as usual, and much pleased with his long visit to Montana.

POSTPONED.—The Grand Installation of officers, for Garrison Lodge, Good Templars, has been postponed from this evening to next Tuesday evening, as per notice in to-day's columns. Bear in mind.

Polygamy is not very fruitful of revenue, whatever it may be in other respects. Utah, with 100 000 inhabitants, only pays $37,000 into the United States Treasury this year, whilst Colorado, with 30,000 inhabitants, contributes $100,000.—Exchange.

THE San Francisco Mining and Scientific Press, with its last issue, commenced its twelfth Volumne; it is, without any exception, one of the best and most useful journals published on the Pacific coast; no miner or mechanic should be without it.

SHOOTING SCRAPE.—A private dispatch from Virginia, Nevada, says that Tom Beasly, a noted character who has been running McGuire's Opera House and minstrel troupes throughout the sage-brush country, for seasons past, was shot and instantly killed, on Saturday last.

THE Council Grove, Kansas, Democrat is informed by Col. Leavenworth, Indian Agent, that he succeeded in recovering two white women, Mrs. McDaniels and Mrs. Sprigg, and six children, who were taken captives by the Indians in Northern Texas last summer. The Indians have yet three white children which they promise to deliver up.

CONTRIBUTORS, correspondents and item [craishers] will please be patient, now and then, in case their favors don't appear at every expected time. The size of the dispatches, and the other things that accidentally or intentionally may precede them, oftentimes oblige a number of items and contributions to lie over, for want of room, or to keep up the regular variety of reading matter for each issue.

THE postal money order system was to go into effect, in California, on yesterday, the 5th of February. The rates of charges for money orders will be 10 cents for orders not exceeding $10; 15 cents for orders over $10 and not exceeding $20, and 20 cents for orders over $20 and not exceeding $30, which is the limit of any single order. This system will, doubtless, shortly, go into effect at this place, too.

VALENTINES.—An endless assortment of this seasonable article, in Cupid's line, is offered on sale in the window of Messrs. T. D Brown and Sons. We saw an old corey of a salat, who has but three wives already, wishfully examining the mottoes and the "wallentines" through that window the other day. Like the frog who "would a wooing go," he had, no doubt, a notion to invest, for more.

UNSTAMPED RECEIPTS AND OTHER PAPERS.—An eastern exchange says the neglect to affix revenue stamps to receipts given for money, goods, express packages, and other papers, has become very common, even on the part of business men who are very familiar with the requirements of the law. The omission has become so general as to attract the attention of the revenue officers, and the Commissioner has directed, after an opportunity has been given for correcting omissions, to have proceedings commenced for the recovery of the penalty fifty dollars, the amount recoverable in all cases of neglect. All interested are referred to the 158th section of the Revenue Law. The common mode of cancelling stamps with an X is not in compliance with the law. The initials of the person using the stamp, and the date when used should be written in ink. Any other mode gives an opportunity for a fraudulent use of a stamp.

Large Mormon Capitals Etc. A son of General Sterling Price, [illegible] turned to Missouri for the purpose of escorting the remaining members of the family, [illegible] doves, the silver and chinaware Colony, which is being formed there under the auspices of M. P. Henry, Jr., Shelby and others. General Price is represented as satisfied with the prospects of the colony, and has decided to take up his residence permanently there.

BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE, NEW YORK.—The great, popular house of Hall, Southwick & Co., wholesale dealers, manufacturers and jobbers of boots and shoes, &c., appears in a new advertisment this morning. They do an immense business—because universally popular and studious of the interest of the trade—with merchants of this territory, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and New Mexico. With the "progress of the age," this old-established house has removed from 384 and 386 Broadway, to opposite A. T. Stewart & Co.'s; their address being now 279 and 281 Broadway, New York City.

NEW TERRITORY.—A Memorial to Congress has been introduced in the Idaho Legislature, praying for subdivision of the Territory, along the line of the Salmon River Mountains. The memorial also asks for the creation of a new Territory to be called the Territory of Nez Perces, to be composed of the eastern portion of Washington Territory, including Walla Walla, and all that country lying along the Hellgate river, including the Blackfoot country to the ridge of the Rocky Mountains. The proposition is said to be received with much favor, and the prospects are decidedly favorable to its passage.

LOW RATES OF PASSAGE.—By the P. M. S. S. Co's. steamer, "Sacramento," which lately left San Francisco for Panama, the rates of passage to New York was $210, first cabin, outside rooms, and $165., inside rooms; but by the Opposition Co's. steamer, "Moses Taylor," which is advertised to leave San Francisco on the 15th inst., the rates of passage are only $125., first cabin, outside rooms, and $100., inside rooms; second cabin passage only $60., and steerage $35., payable in gold. Bully for the opposition! It must be cheaper to thus spend a few weeks on "the ocean wave" than to stop a few days at the "Russ" or "What Cheer House."

THAT CALUMNY.—We beg to state, for the information of the parties interested, that the gentleman, on whom a malignant calumny is sought to be placed, by an infamous item, in the local of last Sabbath's Telegraph, has been made aware of its author, and at the proper time, will demand a retraction, or hold the party strictly and sternly responsible, and compel him to husband the slander. The gentleman is not disposed to allow a calumny even by implication to rest upon him, and perhaps by the course he will adopt in the case refered to, he may prevent a repetition of such cowardly slanders.

WHEYEY, FALSE AND WRONG.—Milton sold his copywright of "Paradise Lost" for £15, and died in obscurity. If he was an advocate of Polygamy, as some Utah Polygamist would have us to believe, why did he not go in for tithing? perhaps people were not so easily duped in those days! But, be that as it may be, the "defender of the faith," ye "Dead Sea Telegraph," is making the matter worse—in short a sorry job of it—by his solid columns, claiming countenance after the coat-tail of poor Milton. The laconic Colton has well said: "If a cause be good, the most violent attack of its enemies will not injure it so much as an injudicious, ignorant defense of it by its friends." The suggestion is offered him, free gratis!

UTAH COAL OIL.—We understand that a number of gentlemen residents of this city and Fort Bridger, contemplate erecting machinery on their Coal Oil spring this Summer, and have already sent east for the machinery. The spring is located in Pioneer Hollow about 30 miles this side of Fort Bridger, and is reputed to run ten barrels a day—some say more. Would it not be well for our merchants to bring large numbers of Coal oil lamps of a cheap quality, from the east this year. If plenty of lamps were in the market we are satisfied everybody would use Coal oil, as the Company say they can sell the article for two dollars a gallon, in this market.

SNOW AND THAW.—The three or four days past have exhibited an unusual variety of climate here and hereabout. Sunday morning opened arctic-like, with a fresh fall of snow all over the streets and suburbs. They say Prof. Agassiz, the renowned naturalist, announces the theory that at one time this North American continent of ours was covered with snow and ice a half mile thick. Sunday morning made mother earth suspect that era of perpetual snow was coming back again. But yesterday morning opened bright and balmy, soft as spring and mild as summer, one might say. The morning sun soon thawed the streams and slush, so that, by afternoon, all nature laughed again, and "everything looked lovely"—for an early spring. The season of skaters and the many tinkling sleigh-bells soon shall end—unless the weather-clerk may change his mind once more, and send his feathery flakes and chilling sleets to turn the scene to "cold sublimity."

MONTANA ITEMS.—D. A. O'Donnell, of Colorado, Ohio & Co. Commission Merchants, Helena City, has bought out the establishment of Taylor & Thompson, Helena City, where they intend to open with a large stock of goods as soon as transportation across the country will permit. The firm of McCormick, Ohio & Co. have succeeded admirably since they organized in June last, at Virginia.—The Helena Radiator says a party of five or six persons left there for the land of Blackfoot on snow-shoes.—The Indian tribes inhabiting the country between Walla Walla and Fort Benton, M., comprise the following euphonious selection: "The Walla Wallas, Cayuses, Palouses, Spokanes, Coeur d'Alenes, Flatheads, Pend' Orielles, Snakes, Bannocks, Blackfeet, and Nez Perces.

"Just as [illegible] her sweets,
From every [illegible] she meets,
What does [illegible] a season we drew
We give, for all the whole as new."

Oh! bright be the rain-bow,
To all the storms of life,
That [illegible] greatest beauty
And [illegible] strife!
The sun is ever shining—
The day-spring from above—
To turn thy tears to gratitude,
[illegible] more and love.
May wildly rage awhile,
The calm must shortly follow—
The storm precedes a smile,
[illegible]
Then try to be the rain-bow
To all the storms of life!

BRIG.-GEN. CARLETON, commanding the District of New Mexico, at Santa Fe, has been appointed Major-General.

SHADOWS OF LOVE.—Old men's lives are lengthened shadows; their evening sun falls coldly on the earth, but its shadows all point to the morning.

An old fellow who let go his hold upon the Good Templars pledge, decided himself on the ground that the obligation was invalid because the pledge wasn't stamped. Stamp your pledges!

A Grand Convention of commercial travelers or "drummers" will be held in Cleveland on the 15th of February. It is stated that the class numbers, in the United States' over forty thousand, who spend on an average over three hundred thousand dollars per day in traveling and other expenses.

ANCIENT MUSCLE-MEN.—In the time of Augustus Cæsar there were two persons living in Rome called Pusio and Secundilla, each of whom exceeded ten feet in height. Their bodies, after death, were kept and preserved as miracles of curiosity in a sepulchre within the Sallustian gardens.

Pliny names a certain Gabara, who in the days of Claudious was brought out of Arabia; and says he was nine feet nine inches high.

The Emperor Maximin, originally a Thracian peasant, measured eight feet and a half. His wife's bracelets served him as rings. His ability was such that he consumed daily forty pounds of flesh and drank eighteen bottles of wine. His strength was proportionable to his gigantic shape. He could draw a loaded wagon without help, and with a blow of his fist often broke the teeth of a horse's mouth. He also crushed the hardest stones between his fingers, and cleft trees with his hands.

Pliny and Valerius Maximus speak of Polidamas, a celebrated athlete, son of Nicias, who exceeded all men of his day in stature and strength. He aped Hercules, not without pretensions. In Mount Olympus he killed a lion with a blow of his fist, being unprovided with any other arms. He could stop a chariot with his hand in its most rapid course. Once he singled out the largest and fiercest bull from a whole herd, took hold of him by one of his hinder feet, and notwithstanding his struggles to escape, grasped him with such strength that the hoof remained in his hands. Being afterwards in a cave, under a rock, the earth above began to fall, and when all the rest of the company fled in terror, he alone remained there, as suppose he was able to restrain the ruins with his arms. This presumptuous confidence cost him his life, for he was thus crushed to death.

Officers and Gentlemen residing at Camp Douglas have already learned where they can obtain the best board on the most advantageous terms and patronize this house, extensively, but there is room for more.
